CARVER SCHOOL NEWS

Facilitating progressive change

Welcome Ms. Jennifer Ball as the new Carver School of Social Work Admissions Coordinator. Jennifer is originally from Greensburg, KY and has a BA from University of Louisville in Political Science. She has two children, Emily and Alex. She is also recently engaged to her fiancé Timmy. In her spare time, she can often be found playing with her "fur babies" and spending time with family and friends. Being active in the community and church is something that has always been present in her life. Jennifer also has a long history of working in higher education administrative positions. She is thrilled to be working so close to home! She understands the sacrifices students make to obtain their college degree and the challenges they face in the process. Growing up in this area, Jennifer is also familiar with the impact of Campbellville University on the community and the culture of the area. She is so happy to be part of such a wonderful team of educators and mentors. She encourages everyone to come meet her in person or reach out with any inquiries into enrollment requirements. Her door is always open!

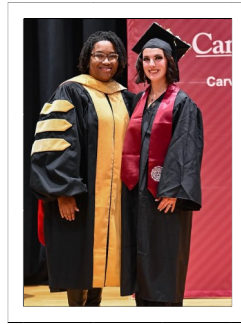

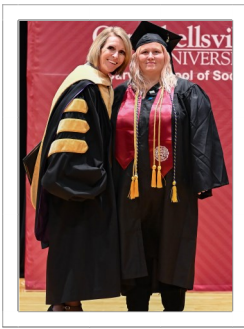

A Nugget of Wisdom from CSSW Faculty: Dr. Anne Adcock

"Absorb everything you can in your courses and field practicum and take each assignment seriously - also pick your field practicum wisely, it could turn into your future job! One more- always, always, treat your clients how you would want your family member to be treated." - Dr. Anne Adcock, Professor/ Bachelor Program Director

Pinning Ceremony December 8, 2023

The Carver School Pinning Ceremony was held in Gheens Recital Hall where we celebrated the accomplishments of 14 BSW and 60 MSW Student Graduates. The graduates and their families were blessed to have Dr. Michelle Tucker welcome them to the ceremony and offer encouraging words as they go forward with their careers making a difference in their various communities and organizations. Among those graduates were two distinguished students who were selected by faculty to speak during the ceremony. Natashjia Scott, a BSW graduate from the Louisville campus, motivated her classmates to go out into their Social Work careers with confidence and never giving up on achieving goals they set for themselves. From our MSW graduating class, Catina Searcey spoke to the graduates about being resilient when faced with challenges in their Social Work careers. Dr. Anne Adcock closed the ceremony in prayer encouraging the students to follow God's direction for their life.
